Policy Rationale

¹ Note from Facebook's records, 26 April 2019: "Updated October 2018 with the following annotation: "For more information on this specific update to our policy, please visit the blog post we put out on expanding our voter suppression policies: Expanding Our Policies on Voter Suppression"

3. Promoting and Publicizing Crime

4. Coordinating Harm^{3 4}

I. Violence and Criminal Behavior

Policy Rationale

In an effort to prevent and disrupt offline harm and copycat behavior, we prohibit people from facilitating, organizing, promoting, or admitting to certain criminal or harmful activities targeted at people, businesses, property or animals. We allow people to debate and advocate for the legality of criminal and harmful activities, as

³ Note added by the Platform Governance Archives: From April 2018 to 30 November 2019, sections 3 (“Promoting and Publicizing Crime”) and 4 (“Coordinating Harm”) appeared to exist separately. However, on 30 November 2019, Facebook merged them (see Facebook original note below). Facebook’s records left no trace of what exactly these two sections contained between April 2018 and 30 November 2019. The Platform Governance Archives decided to use the November 2019 text retro-actively, that is, as if it was the text from April 2018 to 30 November 2019. This is because we understand that having some record of these sections was better than having none, even if inaccurate. Readers should remember that this is only an approximation of these sections original text between April 2018 and 30 November 2019 and, as such, should not be understood as the actual policy that was in place in that time period.

⁴ Note from Facebook’s records, 30 November 2019: “Previously, our Community Standards included separate sections for Coordinating Harm and Promoting and Publicizing Crime. The sections overlapped, which created confusion for our content reviewers. As a result, we decided to merge the two sections and more clearly delineate the type of harm that we aim to prevent and disrupt - harm against people, animals, and property, as well as voter and census interference”.

9. Bullying⁶

II. Safety

Policy Rationale

Bullying happens in many places and comes in many different forms from making statements degrading someone's character to posting inappropriate images to threatening someone. We do not tolerate bullying on Facebook because we want the members of our community to feel safe and respected.

We will remove content that purposefully targets private individuals with the intention of degrading or shaming them. We recognize that bullying can be especially harmful to minors, and our policies provide heightened protection for minors because they are more vulnerable and susceptible to online bullying. In certain instances, we require the individual who is the target of bullying to report content to us before removing it.

Our bullying policies do not apply to public figures because we want to allow discourse, which often includes critical discussion of people who are featured in the news or who have a large public audience. Discussion of public figures nonetheless must comply with our Community Standards, and we will remove content about public figures that violates other policies, including hate speech or credible threats.

Our Bullying Prevention Hub is a resource for teens, parents, and educators seeking support for issues related to bullying and other conflicts. It offers step-by-step guidance, including on how to start important conversations for people being bullied, parents who have a child being bullied or accused of bullying, and educators who have students involved with bullying.

Do not post:

⁶ Note added by the Platform Governance Archives: From April 2018 to 26 April 2019, sections 9 ("Bullying") and 10 ("Harassment") appeared to exist separately, as in this document. 10. Harassment

II. Safety

Policy Rationale

We do not tolerate harassment on Facebook. We want people to feel safe to engage and connect with their community. Our harassment policy applies to both public and private individuals because we want to prevent unwanted or malicious contact on the platform. Context and intent matter, and we allow people to share and re-share posts if it is clear that something was shared in order to condemn or draw attention to harassment. In addition to reporting such behavior and content, we encourage people to use tools available on Facebook to help protect against it.

15. Sexual Solicitation⁷

III. Objectionable Content

Policy Rationale

As noted in Section 8 of our Community Standards (Sexual Exploitation of Adults), people use Facebook to discuss and draw attention to sexual violence and exploitation. We recognize the importance of and want to allow for this discussion. We draw the line, however, when content facilitates, encourages or coordinates sexual encounters between adults. We also restrict sexually explicit language that may lead to solicitation because some audiences within our global community may be sensitive to this type of content and it may impede the ability for people to connect with their friends and the broader community.

Do not post:

Content that attempts to coordinate or recruit for adult sexual activities including but not limited to:

Filmed sexual activities

Pornographic activities, strip club shows, live sex performances, erotic dances

Sexual, erotic, or tantric massages

⁷ Note from Facebook's records, 15 October 2018: "This policy, which disallows sexual solicitation, has long been in place under the headings of "Sexual Exploitation of Adults" and "Adult Nudity and Sexual Activity" (Section 14). We know sexual solicitation isn't necessarily exploitative, and that the language we use and their organization under our Community Standards matter a lot. We also heard from our review teams that the policy as previously written wasn't clear, so we sought to distinguish the solicitation policy with its own heading (See Section 15: Sexual Solicitation) and removed this language from the Sexual Exploitation of Adults section of our Community Standards.

This policy change went through our formal policy process in 2018, which included getting external input from a number of stakeholders.

The policy covers 1) coordination and recruitment of sexual activities, 2) explicit > sexual solicitation, and 3) implicit sexual solicitation, 4) offers or asks for pornography or sexual partners, and 5) sexually explicit language."

Content that engages in explicit sexual solicitation by, including but not limited to the following, offering or asking for:

- Sex or sexual partners
- Sex chat or conversations
- Nude images

However, merely subtracting the new content added in July 2019 leaves this excerpt truncated. Therefore, the expression “makes fun of” was added by us as attempt to reconstruct what was the likely meaning of the text before July 2019.

19. False news

IV. Integrity and Authenticity

Policy rationale

Reducing the spread of false news on Facebook is a responsibility that we take seriously. We also recognise that this is a challenging and sensitive issue. We want to help people stay informed without stifling productive public discourse. There is also a fine line between false news and satire or opinion. For these reasons, we don't remove false news from Facebook, but instead significantly reduce its distribution by showing it lower in the News Feed. Learn more about our work to reduce the spread of false news here.

We are working to build a more informed community and reduce the spread of false news in a number of different ways, namely by

- Disrupting economic incentives for people, Pages and domains that propagate misinformation

- Using various signals, including feedback from our community, to inform a machine learning model that predicts which stories may be false

- Reducing the distribution of content rated as false by independent third-party fact-checkers

- Empowering people to decide for themselves what to read, trust and share by informing them with more context and promoting news literacy

- Collaborating with academics and other organisations to help solve this challenging issue

20. Memorialization

IV. Integrity and Authenticity

When we learn that someone has passed away, we memorialize the account by adding "Remembering" above the name on the person's profile. This makes it clear that the account is now a memorial site and protects against attempted logins and fraudulent activity. We do not remove, update, or change anything about the profile or the account because we want to respect the choices someone made while still alive. We have also made it possible for people to identify a legacy contact to look after their account after they pass away. People can let us know in advance if they want their account permanently deleted when they die. We may delete profiles when the next of kin tells us that the person who passed would have preferred that we delete the account rather than memorialize it. Visit Hard Questions for more information about our memorialization policy and process.
